Ohio TT Update

Mrs. Megan Kvamme, Mr. Kyle Yoder, Mr. Matt Armstead and Mr. Justin Embrey presented the Commissioners with an update on Ohio TT in Coshocton County, also in attendance were Mr. Rusty Dreher and Mrs. Robin Schonauer. Tower #1 in Millcreek is up and live as of last night with 5 of the 10 beta-testers contacted and signed-up to provide feed-back on the service they receive off of that tower. All beta-tester will receive 90 days free services. OhioTT will use the same roll-out method with 10 beta-testers in all tower locations. Beta-tester will be used to provide two weeks' worth of feed-back before additional users are put on the tower for service. All paperwork for the other nine (9) sites has been submitted and the plan is to have those sites up and running by the end of June, as all equipment and software for those towers have been procured and are in OhioTT's possession. This first tower in Millcreek could help connect potentially 400 under served households, the next nine (9) sites could then reach out to possibly 4800 underserved households. The next nine (9) sites will be complete in clusters of three location towers that are close to each other. OhioTT plans to give updates monthly on the number of clients on the towers as well as how the service is at the towers. There has been a lot of interest in the towers both on their website as well as to the call center. Once all existing towers have all equipment needed to offer service, OhioTT will then start to build 11 new towers throughout the county. Service to homes from all towers can be checked both on-line or by calling the call center and providing an address. Most generally, all towers will have a signal reach of 4+ miles out. Once an address has been identified as a maybe, a service truck will be then sent to that location to test signals and if the signal is good, set up could take place that same day. Ohio TT is offering free equipment to all households, a value of $600.00. Additionally, there will be three(3) service plans to choose from during sign-up as well as an activation fee of $99.00. OhioTT is excited to be bringing stable internet service to Coshocton County as this is a huge advancement.
